

Technician (m/f/x) for media technology and media equipment

Join us at the FH Upper Austria and create with us – in your job – the admin of our university.

FH OÖ Studienbetriebs GmbH

Fakultät für Informatik, Kommunikation und Medien

Dekanat Hagenberg

Your Tasks

As a media technician, you play a key role in managing and further developing the media infrastructure at the Hagenberg campus of FH OÖ. Your responsibilities include the support, maintenance, and continuous optimization of our technical equipment to ensure smooth operations and uphold the highest quality standards. You are the central point of contact for technical support for our users, demonstrating a solution-oriented approach that ensures efficient support in addressing technical concerns and challenges. Additionally, you coordinate and conduct training sessions and workshops on the use of media devices and software applications. Managing the technical infrastructure, particularly the equipment rental, as well as meticulous documentation, are also part of your duties. You plan and execute procurement processes, from selection and evaluation to the implementation of new technologies. An important aspect of your role is supporting instructors in conducting exercises with students, as well as contributing to research projects. These tasks require close collaboration with faculty, active participation in new projects, and taking on communicative and administrative responsibilities. With your technical expertise, you contribute significantly to the development of innovative solutions and the forward-looking alignment of our media technology.

Your Profile

You have a relevant qualification from an apprenticeship or technical school as well as several years of professional experience in the field of media technology – an HTL or university of applied sciences degree is an advantage. You are proficient in handling media technology and software, as well as the common MS Office applications, as these are part of your daily work routine. As part of your further development, we offer you opportunities to engage with lesser-known but exciting areas of media technology. We provide comprehensive support and opportunities for you to further expand your professional expertise. Your structured, independent work approach combined with strong organizational skills distinguishes you. Additionally, you bring excellent German and English language skills, which benefit you in daily communication with colleagues, instructors, and students. If you consider yourself an engaged team player and time flexibility is not an obstacle for you, then you are the perfect fit for us!
